

MSHA TRAINING IN SAIPAN

Mine/Quarry Operators, Contractors That Conduct Work at Mine/Quarry Sites, Contractors Who Crush or Size Aggregate Materials and Safety Trainers

The mine safety and health administration (MSHA) will begin inspection activities on October 1, 2016 of all mine/quarry sites and contractors who crush or size aggregate materials within the Pacific Territories Region. MSHA's Educational Field and Small Mine Services Group (EFSMS) will be conducting training sessions to help mine operators, contractors and miners learn the requirements of the Mine Act, 30 Code of Federal Regulations (30CFR) and what they need to do to ensure their mines and work sites are in compliance.

This training will consist of two modules over a two week period.

Module 1 – Week One: “Comprehensive Training”; this first week will consist of 3 days of comprehensive training in a number of areas to educate mine operators and contractors on how to become compliant with MSHA regulations. This module will be geared towards mine operators mine managers, safety personnel, supervisors and trainers. Classes will include training in:

- Federal Code of Regulations
- Mine Act
- Program Policy Manual – This manual contains guidelines that MSHA inspectors will follow when conducting inspections
- Work Place Examinations
- Competent Person Duties and Responsibilities
- Hazard Recognition
- Highwall and Spoil Bank Safety
- Task Training
- Guarding
- Safety Programs
- PPE (personal protective equipment)

Module 2 – Week 2: “Train the Trainer”; this module will consist of 3 days of Train the Trainer Classes. This week is designed for people interested in conducting training of miners. This is three days of classroom training to teach individuals how to train miners for compliance with 30CFR Part 46 training regulations.

Individuals interested in becoming “Trainers” must attend both modules 1 and 2.

There is no cost for any training. You can bring as many participants as you wish.

Training dates:

Module 1 – April 6th, 7th, and 8th

Module 2 – April 11th, 12th, and 13th

Classes will run from 8:00am to 4:30pm daily

All classes will be held at the Multi-Purpose Center, Beach Road, Susupe Saipan

There is limited space at this venue. Please let me know as soon as possible how many will attend
